It's that simple

You order the appropriate PWLAN conference value card for your event from us. We will send it to you on account by post within two working days.

Using the access code for the value card, everyone can surf on the Internet and work at the same time – for as long as the value card is valid and based on the number of users you have selected.

Special requirements

Should you require a higher bandwidth for the duration of the event or have other additional requirements, please inform the Swisscom Hotspot team of this at least four weeks before the event.
